About me

I've always loved being on a team and connecting with an audience - whether that's on camera or in front of a packed stadium. From cheering at UCLA to appearing as a featured actor in national commercials like GAP, Apple, Target and more. Those experiences shaped my confidence, discipline, and love for connecting with people.

I'm also a lifelong sports fan working toward a future in sports and entertainment law. I create lifestyle content inspired by everyday moments- travel, routines, style, and sports culture- shared in a way that feels genuine, approachable, and real.
